Australian Health Performance Framework: conceptual framework Objective: to improve health outcomes for all Australians and ensure the sustainability of the Australian health system Equity Determinants Health status Health system of health · How healthy are • Is the health system (by itself, and with others) Australians? · Are the factors that working to prevent illness, injury and disease? Is it the same for influence good health • Is it delivering safe, effective, and accessible everyone? changing for the better? coordinated care appropriate for each individual? · What are the best · Where and for whom are • Is the health system efficient and sustainable? opportunities for these factors changing? Effectiveness improvement? Safety Health conditions Appropriateness Health behaviours Human function Continuity of care Personal biomedical factors Wellbeing Accessibility Environmental factors Deaths Efficiency and sustainability Socioeconomic factors Health system context Demographics, community and social capital, governance and structure, financing, workforce, infrastructure, information research and evidence

Note: Indicators are not currently available for all domains and dimensions within the AHPF framework.

Source: Adapted from National Health Information and Performance Principal Committee, 2017, The Australian Health Performance Framework (868KB PDF).