

Appendix 5: The questionnaire

The questionnaire was not a single document. Three samples were selected, each with equivalent numbers of questions in the same sequence (refer to 'Study design' in Chapter 6).

Sample 1 respondents were interviewed face-to-face, with a self-completion booklet for the more sensitive issues. Consequently, this questionnaire comprised two booklets.

Sample 2 respondents (selected from the same household as Sample 1) self-completed the entire questionnaire. An additional data item (relationship to Sample 1 respondent) was collected in this questionnaire and interviewer instructions were replaced with directions appropriate to self-completion.

Sample 3 respondents self-completed the entire questionnaire which was identical to the sample 2 questionnaire, except the 'relationship to Sample 1' data item was not collected.

Additionally, to address the possibility that the order of responses within questions might affect the likelihood of selection, response lists were rotated so that blocks of possible answers were presented in equal numbers across all samples. Three rotations were employed. Accordingly, there were nine different questionnaires, all with the same question sequence, but different orders of possible responses within particular questions.

1998 National Drug Strategy Household Survey

What is the purpose of this form?

The National Drug Strategy Household Survey has been conducted since 1985. This is the sixth occasion that information from households on drug awareness, attitudes and behaviour has been collected. We would like you to complete this questionnaire by yourself.

The questionnaire is for your use only. Your answers will help the Department of Health and Family Services to effectively examine important health and social issues and certain behaviour relating to drug use, and to measure the extent of drug use and the community's attitude to drugs.

How confidential is the information you give?

Completely confidential! When you have completed this form, please seal it in the envelope provided and give it back to the Roy Morgan Research fieldworker who will return it still sealed, to the survey team for processing. The survey is managed by the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare on behalf of the department. Only the survey team will have access to your form and once the survey data is compiled, your form will be destroyed. Your name and address will never be linked with any of the information you provide.

Please be as honest and accurate as possible. If you do not wish to answer any question for any reason, you do not have to do so. Participation in this survey is entirely voluntary.

How to complete this form:

- Please complete this form using a blue or black pen. Most questions only require you to answer by marking the appropriate box or boxes with a cross, like this:

Please do not mark any areas outside the box.

- Other questions will require a numeric answer and can be filled in like this:

Please do not cross the number 7. Please make sure to write only one number in each box.

- Other questions will ask you to write your answer on the lines provided. Please ensure that you print your answer like this:

Last year I travelled to Bali on Holiday

- If you wish to change your answer to any question, please use liquid paper to make the change. If you do not have any liquid paper, put a line right through the wrong answer and mark the right answer with a cross.
- If you see an arrow like this (➔), you should follow the direction exactly. For example, ➔ C1 means that you should miss all of the questions after the one you have just answered, until you come to the question marked C1. If you do not see the arrow, just answer the next question.

A note for all, but more particularly, for our younger respondents.

The answers you give in this survey will be used by researchers to help in understanding what people think about drugs and how widely drugs are used. You might feel embarrassed about giving honest answers. You might even be afraid that the researchers will be able to identify you, or that your answers will be shown to your parents. This will not, and can not, happen.

All survey forms have codes entered onto them and the researchers will not know who you are. Your answers will be added to everyone else's (perhaps up to 11,000 people) before the researchers get to see them. When all the answers are collected, researchers will then be able to report, for example, that "most young people do not smoke" or that "less than half of all young women drink alcohol". Your answers will simply become part of a much bigger pool of answers.

The only researchers who will get to see the pool of answers are those who are looking at health or social issues relating to drug use. They must meet strict guidelines before the Institute of Health and Welfare or the Department of Health and Family Services will let them look at the answers you provide. Your answers will help in planning health and other services for the community.
